

Moments to Share with a City: Toronto Symphony Orchestra Announces Its 2026/27 Season

"The Toronto Symphony Orchestra (TSO) shares the unparalleled power of live music with the city in its 2026/27 season. Designed by Music Director Gustavo Gimeno, the expansive lineup spans classical blockbusters and contemporary creations, hits from the soundtracks of our lives, cinematic rediscoveries, and orchestral adventures for youth and families. Among the highlights are an electric season-opening concert with internationally renowned pianist Yuja Wang; the completion of a two-year Beethoven symphony cycle; separate appearances by three members of the incomparable Kanneh-Mason family; a celebratory Lunar New Year week featuring dedicated programs performed across three concert series; the Canadian Première of famed Japanese composer Joe Hisaishi's new piano concerto, which he will conduct; crowd-pleasing salutes to the music of James Bond, Whitney Houston, Broadway, swing, and sci-fi films; and the triumphant finale that is Mahler's colossal Eighth—the "Symphony of a Thousand". Subscriptions to the TSO's 2026/27 season are now available at TSO.CA/Subscribe..."
